AN INTERNATIONAL SURVEY
OF RECENT
PAINTING AND SCULPTURE

MAY-AUGUST, 1984

MAJOR PUBLICATION TO ACCOMPANY
EXHIBITION OF CONTEMPORARY ART

An International Survey of Recent Painting and Sculpture, a timely appraisal and critical analysis of major tendencies in the art of today, documents the exhibition of the same name that opens the new temporary exhibition galleries of The Museum of Modern Art on May 17, 1984. This important 384 page catalog, made possible by a grant from AT&T, presents the work of 165 artists from 17 countries; nearly 800 black and white illustrations represent not only the specific works chosen for the exhibition, but also other works by the artists, demonstrating the range and development of their artistic output since 1975.

Acknowledging the absence of a single dominant style, Kynaston McShine, Senior Curator of Painting and Sculpture and director of the exhibition, comments on such themes as the recent tendency toward expressionism in painting; the renewed interest in allegory, metaphor, narrative and humor; the continuing richness and depth of abstract painting; and interest in lush patterning and decorativeness. The sculpture illustrated provides a counterpart to the concerns of current painting and exemplifies the continuing independence and specificity of the sculptural tradition.

In addition to the illustrations and an introduction by Mr. McShine, the catalog contains biographical information on the artists, selected individual and group exhibition lists and a bibliography of related publications. Measuring 11½ x 10½ inches, this handsome book is an indispensable guide to aspects of current art and a fascinating report on the extraordinary vitality of the visual art of the present. The catalog, which is being published (paperbound only) and distributed by The Museum of Modern Art, will sell for $17.50 until September 1, 1984; $25.00 thereafter.
